stability of purpose, no clear-cut and sincere program of an opposing party.

This unintelligent tangle is seen in congress. Republican and Democratic members of the House and Senate alike, on broad measures affecting the whole people, find it hard to vote together because of the nominal difference of their party membership. When, sometimes, under relentless conviction, they do vote together, they have the feeling of a public expense to get what they want. It creates and fosters the degrading system in American politics through which these special interests work.

Boss System Hostile to Welfare.

The boss system is unknown and impossible under any other free government in the world. In its very nature it is hostile to the general welfare. It is a system of rule by a few men, who, for the sake of power, will do anything to keep their position. It is a system of rule by a few men, who, for the sake of power, will do anything to keep their position. It is a system of rule by a few men, who, for the sake of power, will do anything to keep their position.

Under this boss system, no matter which party wins, the people seldom win. And they never work for the people. They do not even work for the party to which they belong. They work only for those antipathetic interests whose political employees they are. It is these interests that are the real power in the end.

These special interests which shape the people's substance are bipartisan. They use both parties. They are the invisible government behind our visible government. Democratic and Republican bosses alike are brother officers of this hidden power. No matter how fiercely they pretend to fight each other before election, they work together after election. And, acting as this political conspiracy is able to delay, mutilate or defeat sound and needed laws for the people's welfare and the property of honest business, and even to enact bad laws, harmful to the people's welfare and oppressive to honest business.

It is this invisible government which is the real danger to American institutions. It is the cause of the corruption, the crime, the poverty, the suffering, the waste, the loss of life and property, the degradation of the people everywhere and always which the people are not able to see.

gunately reactionary as those in other parts of our country. Yet, for well-known reasons, those sincere and honest southern progressives and reactionaries are not in a single party which is neither progressive nor reactionary. They vote a dead tradition and a local fear, not a living conviction and a national faith. They vote not for the Democratic party, but against the Republican party. They want to be free from this condition; they can be free from it through the National Progressive party.

For the problems which America faces today are economic and national. They have to do with a new industrial revolution, with a new geographical distribution of the people, and with the more direct government of the people by themselves.

They affect the south exactly as they affect the north, the east or the west. It is an artificial and dangerous condition that prevents the southern man and woman from acting with the northern man and woman who believe the same thing. Yet just that is what the old parties do prevent.

Not only do the old parties, particularly the Republican party, prevent the nation from acting with the geographical sections; it also robs the nation of a priceless asset of thought in working out our national destiny. The south once was famous for brilliant and constructive thinking on national problems; and the south has minds as brilliant and constructive as of old. But southern intellect cannot freely and fully aid, in terms of politics, the solving of the nation's problems. This is so because of a particular disposition which has nothing to do with these problems. Yet these problems can be solved only in terms of politics.

People Have Lost Government.

The root of the wrongs which hurt the people is the fact that the people's government has been taken away from them. Their government must be given back to the people. And so the first purpose of the progressive party is to make sure the rule of the people. The rule of the people means that the people themselves shall nominate, as well as elect, all candidates for office, including senators and presidents of the United States. What profiteth it the people if they do only the electing while the visible government does the governing?

The rule of the people means that when the people's legislators make a law which hurts the people, the people themselves may reject it. The rule of the people means that the people may discharge any dishonest or corrupt legislator. The rule of the people means that the people may pass a law which the people need, the people themselves may pass it. The rule of the people means that when the people's employees do not do the people's work well and honestly, the people may discharge them. The rule of the people means that the people's servants, not the people's masters.

We progressives believe in this rule of the people, and we believe that the people may do it. We believe that the people may do it. We believe that the people may do it. We believe that the people may do it.

These problems concern the living of the people. In the present stage of American development, these problems should not exist in this country. For, in all the world there is no land so rich as ours. Our fields can feed hundreds of millions. Our mines are more plentiful than the whole of Europe. Invention has made easy the turning of this vast natural wealth into supplies for all the needs of man. One worker today can produce more than twenty workers could produce a century ago.

Conditions Should Spell Prosperity.

And, compared with other peoples, we are very few in number. There are only 50,000,000 of us, scattered over a continent. Germany has 65,000,000 packed in a country very much smaller than Texas. The population of Great Britain and Ireland could be set down in California, and still have more than enough room for the population of Holland. If this country was as thickly settled as Belgium, there would be more than 1,200,000,000 instead of 50,000,000 persons within our borders.

So we have, in this country, a supply every human being beneath the flag. There ought not to be in this republic a single day of bad business, a single unemployed workingman, a single unfed child. American business should be able to supply an hour of uncertainty, discouragement, fear, American workingmen never, a day of low wages, idleness or want. Hunger should never walk in these thinly peopled gardens of plenty.

It is in the fact that these favors which Providence has showered upon us, the living of the people is the problem of the hour. Hundreds of thousands of hard-working Americans find it difficult to get enough to live on. The average income of an American laborer is less than $1,000 a year. With this he must furnish food, shelter and clothing for a family.

Women, whose nourishing and protection should be the first care of the state, not only are driven into the streets to earn a living, but are forced to work under the most degrading conditions. The right of a child to grow into a normal human being is sacred, and yet while small and poor countries, packed with people, have abolished child labor, American mills, mines, factories and shops are destroying hundreds of thousands of American children in body, mind and soul.

At the same time men have strayed from this country so great that the human mind can never comprehend their magnitude. These men, whose wealth is far larger than even that lavished reward which no one would deny business risk or genius. On the other hand, American business is unequal and unsteady compared with the business of other nations. American business men are the best and bravest in the world, and yet our business conditions hamper their energies and hinder their courage. We have a commercialism in business affairs, no sure outlook on the business future. This unsettled state of

The South has men and women as truly progressive and honest as American business prevents it from realizing for the people that great and continuous prosperity which our country's location and wealth and small population justify.

"Pass Prosperity Around."

We mean to remedy these conditions. We mean not only to make prosperity steady, but to give it to every man, woman and child who earns it a just share of that prosperity instead of helping the few who do not earn it to take an unjust share. The progressive motto is: "Pass prosperity around." To make human living easier to the hands of the honest business man, to make trade and commerce sound and steady, to protect womanhood, save childhood and restore the dignity of manhood—these are the tasks we must do.

What, then, is the progressive answer to these questions? We are able to give it specifically and concretely. The first work before us is the revival of honest business. For business is nothing but the industrial and trade exchange of all the products of the products of the field, of the mine, of the forest, of the human use, carry them to the market place and exchange them according to their mutual needs—and this is business.

With our vast advantages, contrasted with the vast disadvantages of other nations, American business all the time should be the best and steadiest in the world. But it is not. Germany, with shallow soil, only a window on the sea and a population that is ten times as dense as ours, yet has a sounder business, a steadier prosperity, a more contented because better cared for people.

What, then, must we do to make American business the best in the world? What poorer nations have done. We must strike down those abuses instead of striking down business itself. We must try to make little business big, and all business honest instead of striking down honest business and yet letting it remain dishonest.

Present day business is as unlike old time business as the old time ox cart is unlike the present day locomotive. Invention has made the whole world over. The telephone, the graph, the telephone have bound the people of modern nations into families. To do the business of these closely knit millions in every modern country great business concerns came into being. What we call big business is the rule of the economic progress of mankind. So warfare to destroy big business is foolish because it can not succeed and wicked because it ought not to succeed. Warfare to destroy big business does not hurt big business. Warfare to destroy big business does not hurt big business. Warfare to destroy big business does not hurt big business.

Evils of Big Business That Hurt.

With the growth of big business came business evils just as great. It is these evils of big business that hurt the people and injure all other business. One of these wrongs is over-capitalization which taxes the people's property for the sake of the few. Another is the manipulation of prices to the injury of the normal business and to the people's damage. Another is interference in the making of the people's laws and the running of the people's government in the unjust interest of evil business. Another is the gathering of riches from human health and life is still another.

An example of such laws is the famous tobacco legislation of 1902. It authorized the tobacco trust to continue to collect from the people the Spanish war tax, amounting to a score of millions of dollars, but to keep that tax instead of turning it over to the government, as it had been doing. It is not to get just such laws as these, and to amend them, as well as to keep the statute books general laws which will end the general abuses of big business that these few criminals corrupt our politics, invest in public works, and in the end get on the nation's statute books. The government put them, and only the universal wrath of an enraged people corrected them when, after years, the courts discovered the outrages.

The government put them, and only the universal wrath of an enraged people corrected them when, after years, the courts discovered the outrages.

Must Overthrow Conspiracy.

Behind rotten laws and preventing sound laws, stands the corrupt power behind the corrupt boss stands the robber interests; and commanding these powers of pillage stands bloated human greed. It is this conspiracy of evil we must overthrow. If we would get the law, we must get the law. If we would get the law, we must get the law. If we would get the law, we must get the law.

Other nations have ended the very same business evils from which we suffer. They have done so by passing laws which are just and which are enforced. They have done so by passing laws which are just and which are enforced. They have done so by passing laws which are just and which are enforced.

What, then, shall we Americans do? Common sense and the experience of the world says that we ought to keep the good big business does for us and stop the wrongs that big business does. We have struck at just the business itself and have not even aimed to strike at the evils of big business. Nearly twenty-five years ago congress passed a law to govern American business in the present time which parliament passed in the reign of King James to govern English business at that time.

For a quarter of a century the courts have been trying to make this law work. Yet during the very time that the law was in force, the power in the whole country was in the hands of the few. The law was in the hands of the few. The law was in the hands of the few. The law was in the hands of the few.

For a quarter of a century the courts have been trying to make this law work. Yet during the very time that the law was in force, the power in the whole country was in the hands of the few. The law was in the hands of the few. The law was in the hands of the few. The law was in the hands of the few.

Honest Business Men Held Back.

Not is this the worst. Under the shifting interpretation of the Sherman law, uncertainty and fear is chilling the energies of the great body of honest American business men. As the Sherman law now stands, it is a law which honest business men can arrange their mutual affairs and be sure that they are not law breakers. This is the main hindrance to the immediate and permanent revival of American business. If the Sherman law were amended so that all their disadvantages were met with all their Sherman law as it now stands, they soon would be bankrupt. Indeed, foreign business men declare that, if their countries had such a law, they could not do business at all.

Even this law, which the Congress of our country, under the Sherman law, the three hundred times on earth have actually been passed, in the practical outcome, to go on doing every wrong they ever committed. Under the degrades of the courts the Oil and Tobacco trusts still can raise prices unjustly and already have done so. They still can issue watered stock and surely will do so. They still can throttle other business men and the United States citizens. They still can corrupt our politics and this moment are indulging in that practice.

The people are tired of this mock battle with criminal capital. They do not want to hurt business. They do not want to get something done about the trust question that amounts to something. What good does it do any man to read in his morning paper that the courts have "dissolved" the Oil trust, and that he must thereafter pay a higher price for his oil than before? What good does it do the laborer who smokes his pipe to be told that the courts have "dissolved" the Tobacco trust, and yet find that he must pay the same short weight package of tobacco? Yet all this is the practical result of the suits against these two great trusts in the world.

No Parallel in World.

Such business chaos and legal paradoxes as American business suffers from can be found nowhere else in the world. Rival nations do not fasten legal ball and chain upon their business-men, they cut them on by free competition. They do not tell their business men that they go forward with legitimate enterprise the penalty may be their goal. Not rival nations tell their business men that so long as they do honest business, their property will not hinder but will help them.

But these rival nations do tell their business men that if they do any evil that our business men do, prison bars await them. These rival nations do tell their business men that if they do any evil that our business men do, prison bars await them. These rival nations do tell their business men that if they do any evil that our business men do, prison bars await them.

Just this is what all honest American business wants, just this is what all honest American business wants, just this is what all honest American business wants. They want to be able to do business without being hindered by the law. They want to be able to do business without being hindered by the law. They want to be able to do business without being hindered by the law.

Both these reforms, so vital to honest American business, the Progressive party will accomplish. Neither evil interests or reckless demagogues can prevent us from this. We are free from both and fear neither.

To Get New Business Laws.

We mean to put new business laws on our statute books which will tell American business men what they can do and what they cannot do. We mean to put new business laws on our statute books which will tell American business men what they can do and what they cannot do. We mean to put new business laws on our statute books which will tell American business men what they can do and what they cannot do.

Modern industrialism has changed the status of women. Women now are wage earners in factories, stores and other places of toil. In hours of labor and all physical conditions of industrial effort, they must compete with men. And men must do more work for wages than men receive—wages which in most cases, are not enough for these women workers to live on.

This is inhuman and indecent. It is immoral and unchristian. It is immoral and unchristian. It is immoral and unchristian. It is immoral and unchristian. It is immoral and unchristian. It is immoral and unchristian. It is immoral and unchristian.

The Progressive party proclaims the equality of the state. We propose to protect women wage earners by suitable laws, an example of which is the minimum wage for women workers—a wage that is high enough to at least buy clothing, food and shelter for the women workers.

The care of the aged is one of the most perplexing problems of modern life. How is the workman with less than $30 a year, and with earning power, wanting to provide for his old age, to provide for aged parents or other relatives in addition to furnishing food, shelter and clothing for his wife and children? What is to become of the family of the laboring man whose strength has been sapped by excessive toil and who has been thrown upon the industrial scrap heap? It is questions like these we must answer if we are to justify free institutions. They are questions to which the masses of people are chained to a body of death, the question which other and poorer nations are answering.

We progressives mean that America shall answer them. The Progressive party is the helping hand to those whom a vicious industrialism has maimed and crippled. We are for the conservation of our natural resources; but even more we are for the conservation of human life. Our forests, water power and minerals are valuable and must be saved from the polluters; but men, women and children are more valuable and they, too, must be saved from the polluters.

Women Should Have Voting Powers.

Because women, as much as men, are a part of our economic and social life, women, as much as men, should have the voting power to solve all economic and social problems. Votes for women are theirs as a matter of course. Men should have the same should be theirs as a matter of political wisdom alone. As wage earners, they should have the right to solve the labor problem, as property owners they

No Effort by Old Parties to Act.

Old parties are when the fight for this great business measure was begun in the Senate the bosses of both parties were against it. So, when the last revision of the tariff was on and a tariff commission might have been written into the tariff law, the administration would not add this reform. When two years later the administration supported it weakly, the bipartisan boss system killed it. There has not been and will not be any sincere and honest effort by the old parties to get a tariff commission. There has not been and will not be any sincere and honest effort by the old parties to get a tariff commission. There has not been and will not be any sincere and honest effort by the old parties to get a tariff commission.

Regarding Tariff Legislation.

A tariff high enough to give American producers the American market without making most goods and services at home prices but low enough that when they sell dishonest goods at dishonest prices, foreign competition can correct both evils; a tariff high enough to enable American producers to pay our workingmen American wages and so to keep the workingmen from getting such wages; a business tariff whose changes will be so made as to reassure business instead of disturbing it—this is the tariff and the method of its making in which the Progressive party believes, which it does believe, and which it proposes to write into the laws of the land.

The Payne-Aldrich tariff laws must be revised immediately in accordance to these principles. At the same time a general, permanent, nonpartisan tariff commission must be fixed in the law as firmly as the Interstate Commerce commission. Neither of the old parties can do this. For neither of the old parties believes in such a tariff, and what is more serious, especially in the tariff, the Progressive party only believes in the sincere enactment of a tariff law. The Progressive party only can change the tariff as it must be changed.

These are samples of the reforms in the laws of business that we intend to put on the nation's statute books. But there are other questions as important as these. They are questions of right, of sound and humane laws. Child labor in factories, mills, mines and in sweatshops must be ended throughout the republic. Such labor is a crime against childhood because it prevents the normal growth of the child, and it is a crime against the nation because it prevents the growth of a host of children into strong, patriotic and intelligent citizens.

Only the nation can stop this industrial slavery. The states cannot stop it. The states never stopped any national wrong—and child labor is a national wrong. To leave it to the state alone is unjust to business; for if some states stop it and other states do not, business men of the former are at a disadvantage with the business men of the latter, because they must compete in the same market goods made by manhood labor at manhood prices in competition with goods made by childhood labor at childhood prices. To leave it to the state is unjust to manhood labor for childhood labor in any state lowers manhood labor in every state, because the product of childhood labor in any state competes with the product of manhood labor in every state. Children workers at the looms, in the mines, in the factories, in the breasts of men and women workers in Massachusetts who strike for living wages. Let the state do what they can, and more power to their arms; but let the nation do what it can, and let the nation do what it can, and let the nation do what it can.

Stand Regarding Women. Modern industrialism has changed the status of women. Women now are wage earners in factories, stores and other places of toil. In hours of labor and all physical conditions of industrial effort, they must compete with men. And men must do more work for wages than men receive—wages which in most cases, are not enough for these women workers to live on.

RAISING DEFENSE FUND FOR ACCUSED OFFICER

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A police fund of $50,000 is being raised for the defense of Charles Becker, the police lieutenant charged with instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, according to information in the hands of should help to solve the tax problems, as wives and mothers they should help to solve all the problems that concern the home. And that means all national problems; for the nation abides at the fireside.

If we said that women can not help defend the nation in time of war and therefore that they should not help to determine the nation's destinies in time of peace, the answer is that women offer and serve in time of conflict as much as men do in time of peace. And the deeper answer is that those who bear the nation's soldiers are as much the nation's defenders as their sons.

Public spokesmen for the invisible government say that many of our reforms are unconstitutional. The same kind of men said the same thing of every effort the nation has made to end national abuses. But in every case, whether in the courts, at the ballot box, or on the battlefield, the result of the constitution was vindicated.

The Progressive party believes that the constitution is a living thing, growing with the people's growth; strengthening with the people's strength, aiding the people in their struggle for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, permitting the people to meet all their needs as conditions change. The opposition believes that the constitution is a dead form, holding back the people's growth, shackling the people's strength, but giving a free hand to malign powers that prey upon the people. The first words of the constitution are "We are the people" and they declare that the constitution's purpose is to form a perfect union, to promote the general welfare. To do that is the very heart of the progressive cause.

Asserts New Vitality Constitution.

The Progressive party asserts anew the vitality of the constitution. We believe in the true doctrine of states' rights, which forbids the nation from interfering with states' affairs, and also forbids the states from interfering with national affairs. The combined intelligence and composites conscience of the American people is as irresistible as it is righteous; and the constitution does not prevent that from working out the general welfare.

From certain sources we hear preachments about the danger of our reforms to American institutions. What is the purpose of American institutions? They were made for the people. What does the flag stand for? What do these things mean?

They mean that the people shall be free to correct human abuses. They mean that men, women and children shall not be denied the opportunity to grow stronger and nobler. They mean that the people shall have the power to make our land each day a better place to live in. They mean that the people shall have the right to the rule of liberty, and not the academics of theory.

They mean the actual progress of the race in tangible items of daily living, and not the theories of barren disputation.

If they do not mean these things, they are as a sounding brass and tinkling cymbal. A nation of strong, upright men and women, a nation of wholesome homes, realizing the best ideals of a nation whose power is glorified by its justice and whose justice is the conscience of scores of millions of God-fearing people—that is the nation the people need and want. And that is the nation they shall have.

A Braver and Cleaner Era.

For never doubt that we Americans will make good the real meaning of our institutions. Never doubt that we are solving in righteousness and wisdom every vexing problem. Never doubt, that in the end, the hand from above that leads us upward will prevail over the hand from below that drags us downward. Payal, you will see, we are indeed a nation whose God is the Lord.

And, so, never doubt that a braver, fairer, cleaner America surely will come; that a better and brighter life for all beneath the flag surely will be achieved. And this new life will be for all. Those who now doubt, soon will believe.

Soon the night will pass; and when, to the sentinel on the ramparts of liberty, the anxious ask: "Watchman, what of the night?" this answer will be: "O, the dawn approacheth!"

Knowing the price we must pay, the sacrifice we must make, the burdens we must carry, the assaults we must endure—knowing full well the cost—yet we enlist, and we enlist for the cause. For we know the justice of our cause, and we know, too, its certain triumph.

Not reluctantly, then, but eagerly, not with faint hearts, but strong, do we now advance upon the enemies of the people. For the call has come to us, the call that came to our fathers. As they responded, so shall we.

FIXES NO RESPONSIBILITY

PUEBLO, Aug. 5.—A coroner's jury today conducted an investigation into the cause of the Rock Island wreck here on the night of July 30, when the train was thrown into the Fountain river and three people lost their lives.

According to the verdict the jury found "the accident was due to the Flood waters running down the Fountain river, said waters wasting away the roadbed; that the roadbed was washed away without knowledge of said railway company," without fixing any blame for the wreck, the jury recommending that the road fix the place where the wreck occurred and recommended that the state railway commission take some action to guard against repetitions of the wreck.

hands of District Attorney Whitman tonight.

The money is being collected. It is said, by the so-called "system," which is to be investigated by the district attorney, who believes there is a corrupt alliance between the "system" and the gambling fraternity founded on graft and blackmail.

Information of the $50,000 fund came to the prosecutor today in connection with the arraignment of Becker to answer the indictment against him. It was said the lawyers who appeared today were not satisfactory to collectors of the defense fund, who, the district attorney heard, have practically engaged a prominent criminal lawyer to defend the Lieutenant John W. Hart, who conducted today's proceedings, moved to dismiss the indictment on the ground that it was irregular. Judge McQuay set the case over until Wednesday.

DARROW'S DEFENSE VIRTUALLY ENDED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—Clarence S. Darrow's defense of the accusation of jury bribery virtually ended today. Nearly the entire day was consumed by cross-examination concerning the conversations between Darrow and John R. Harrington, arranged by the latter at the instigation of Federal Prosecutor Oscar L. Lawyer, according to Harrington, and recorded by means of a mechanical eavesdropper. Judge Hutton ruled at the beginning of today's session that the defendant could be examined as to the conversations, and excerpts from the transcript were read in the form of impeaching questions. Darrow was on the witness stand six days.

At the conclusion of the cross-examination, Attorney Rogers of the defense conducted a brief redirect examination, which was concluded with something like an open forum. Darrow answered questions of Juror District Attorney Frederick Ford and Rogers. Four of the jurors joined in the quizzing, which covered a wide scope, some of the questions concerning phases of the case almost forgotten.

Darrow had one surprise for the prosecution. Asked whether in the last conversation with Harrington on February 19, he had promised to give him $5,000, the defendant made a flat denial. Then he explained that Harrington had asked him for money at each conversation, and at the last, one he had asked for $5,000. The next day, Darrow said, he telephoned to Harrington when four others were listening on connected telephones, and told him:

"John, you are a witness before the grand jury and I am under indictment so I can't have any financial transactions with you. This is said, ended all returns with Harrington."

A new phase of the peace negotiations which ended with the pleas of the McNamara brothers was brought out by a question of Juror Coppock. He asked what agreement had been made as to other prosecutions and Darrow said that the district attorney had promised to drop the prosecutions of Caplan and Schmidt, the men accused of having helped J. B. McNamara dynamite the Times building.

BIENNIAL CONVENTION

K. OF P. OPENS TODAY

DENVER, Aug. 5.—Hundreds of delegates to the twenty-seventh biennial convention of the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, are in Denver for the opening of the convention in the house of representatives chamber in the state house at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Judge George M. Hanson of Callas, Me., associate justice of the supreme court of Maine, supreme chancellor of the supreme lodge, K. of P., will preside. The grand lodge of Colorado will hold its annual convention Thursday and Friday.

This is the second time in the history of the supreme lodge that the biennial convention has been brought west of the Missouri river, San Francisco securing it in 1902.

IS SENTENCED TO HANG
FORT COLLINS, Aug. 5.—Lauro
Garcia, who was convicted of the murder of Policeman Charles Brockman there December 17, 1911, was today sentenced to be hanged during the week of November 24. Sentence has been delayed through the efforts of attorneys for the convicted man to secure a new trial on an insanity plea.

Delay Is Expensive

When you delay having your dental work done you only add extra pain and expense. Call today for a free examination and estimate. You will be pleased with the work and surprised at our reasonable charges.

CITY OFFICIALS

SURVIVE RECALL

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 5.—Mayor
Frank K. Mott and Commissioners W.
J. Baccus and F. C. Turner survived by a substantial majority today a recall election in which Socialists and Industrial Workers of the World were declared to be the administration's most bitter opponents. A large vote was cast, women polling a heavy ballot.

Members of the Industrial Workers asserted that their organization had taken no concerted action in the campaign, but that the administration had played up their organization as its principal opponents in order to cover up the real issues involved.
The complaints against the mayor and his commissioners recited that the police had been used for the suppression of free speech, and that the mayor and the two commissioners evaded the referendum provisions of the new city charter by granting certain leases of waterfront lands and certain municipal franchises before the charter went into effect.

The administration accused the Industrial Workers of having instituted the recall, and declared the issue to be whether "the I. W. W. and their sympathizers control the city of Oakland and cannot be interfered with in matter what they say." The Industrial Workers were charged with having used "blasphemous, obscene and vulgar language at all of their meetings," and with having advised the public to "submit to no legal restraint and to observe no legal authority."

"Were all medicines as meritorious as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, the world would be much better off and the percentage of suffering greatly decreased," writes

GOVERNOR JOHNSON

made in his letter to Julian Harris of Atlanta, that it was to the white man in the south that he negro must look, and declared his position was for the best interests of the negro. It said tonight that all his associations finally were won over to his point of view.

White Delegates Regularly Elected.

It is understood that Colonel Roosevelt suggested the action in the Florida and Mississippi cases, subsequently taken by the national committee. The Mississippi negroes were thrown out completely on the ground that the white delegates were regularly elected.
Colonel Roosevelt is said to have protested against the use of the word
"white" delegates in the call for the Mississippi state convention. In the Florida cases the contesting negro delegation was thrown out. The negroes protested, loudly against this. They were invited to attend the convention as "supplemental delegates" without votes, but declined to do this, eventually going as "spectators." Then the national committee decided to bar also the white delegates from Florida, there having been some question of irregularity in calling a white and a negro convention separately.

Committee Agrees With Him.

Colonel Roosevelt insisted there should be no negro delegates from the south in the convention, and the national committee acquiesced in his view. The cases were taken before the convention committee on credentials today, but it was generally believed that committee would follow the action of the national committee.

In this connection some of the Progressive leaders tonight openly charged that some Taft leaders in the Republican party were behind the contests brought by the southern negro delegates, and had defrayed the expense of the negroes in coming to Chicago. This the negroes denied.

"I was cured of diarrhoea by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes M. E.
Gehardt, Orleto, Pa. There is nothing

FARMER'S HOME BURNED BY ALLEGED BLACK HANDERS

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Aug. 5.— Because he refused to comply with demands made in a Black Hand letter, the home of Louis Pietrafesa, a farmer, was burned to the ground at an early hour this morning. The family barely made its escape from the burning building. Two weeks ago Pietrafesa received a Black Hand letter demanding $500. He paid no attention to it, and a week later a second letter was received. This was not heeded.

ADDS $2,000,000 TO TRAMWAY ASSESSMENT

DENVER, Aug. 5.—The state tax commission today added $2,000,000 to the assessment of the Denver City Tramway company. The assessment made by former Assessor Henry L.
Arnold of $4,000,000 was protested as excessive. The action of the tax commissioner takes the assessment to $5,000,000.

In 1910 the total population of New York was 4,768,883 and the total street

"In Chicago there can be no doubt that the nomination of a president went to the wrong man. The national committee was there for the purpose of finding a pretext for the nomination of Mr. Taft, and it found it."
Professor Hart then followed with a resume of the evidence and its consideration by the committee. The big audience was greatly pleased with his vivid statements.

were ridiculed, but in the face of dea warm welcome in Colorado Springs on account of his graduation from Colorado college. Last night the people gave him a rousing welcome. In his address, he pointed plainly to the causes which led to the formation of the little bunch of Progressive leaders who have made the fight for clean government in the state. From a local point of view, his talk was of especial interest to the people, because it made plain the method to be pursued in voting at the primary in September.

Stewart's Forceful Address.

art to await an opening to begin his address. The people had waited to hear him, and the sentiment was manifestly plain that his candidacy is indorsed by the people of his home city.
Fighting the same battle he has been fighting for two weeks in the Arkansas valley and in northern Colorado, he soon warmed up to the occasion, and the audience was more than identified with the cause of Progressive Republicanism in the state, were each paid a high tribute by Mr. Stewart.

His reference to the "acid test" and the fact that it has really brought about conditions precedent to victory for the Progressives was received with applause.

Toward the close of his address, the fire that has made him famous over the state began to show itself. Speaking of A. M. Stevenson, he said:

"He is a political power—and I speak advisedly. I have been advised that if I did not forbear and ease up on the fight against them I would be attacked. Let them come. I will guarantee to meet them in a little over half way any time they start anything of that character. These men have proved themselves assassins of character in times past. They have methods peculiarly their own for the destruction of anything and anybody at cross purposes with them."

His characterization of Thomas H.
Deane was enjoyed by the crowd, as

MERLE D. VINCENT
Paonia, for United States Senator.

pleased with the cutting hits sent out after the machine.

A warm compliment was paid to the "White Brigade" the ladies of which had adorned themselves in white and were seated in a group. "White," said Mr. Stewart, "is an emblem of purity; and it is this for which we are working in political matters."

"The free citizenship of Colorado is with us and against the bad leaders of a bad system of state government," he continued. "I entered this fight on a return last fall when I saw a little bunch of young men making a battle pecially that portion which referred to the maverick incident wherein Davies accused Stewart of being a maverick, and Stewart came back with the reply that he admitted the charge because a maverick is an animal bearing no man's brand."

The meeting was in every sense a surprise, even to the Progressives, and furnishes abundant proof of the prevailing sentiment. Present indications warrant the assertion that El Paso county will defeat the machine three to one, and perhaps at a ratio even more distressing to the adherents of the "acid test."

GET RID OF RHEUMATISM

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, plasters, etc., are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such treatment does not get rid of the disease, because it does not reach its source. Rheumatism comes from an excess of uric acid in the blood. This acid circulating through the system acts as an irritant to the nerves, muscles and joints, and produces the inflammation and swelling, and sharp cutting pains characteristic of the trouble. Then Rheumatism becomes chronic and not only a painful but a dangerous disease. S. S. S., the greatest vegetable remedy, goes into the circulation, neutralizes and removes the uric acid, and by binding up the thin, sour blood, safely and surely cures the disease. S. S. S. makes rich, nourishing blood, which quiets excited nerves, eases the painful muscles and joints and filters out every particle of irritating uric acid from the system. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free.

crowd.

Colonel Invited to Attend.

The standing committees were appointed in the usual way and then before the first day's proceedings were brought to a close, James R. Garfield of Ohio moved the appointment of a committee of 15 to invite Colonel Roosevelt to appear before the conwas carried with a whoop and tonight, with due ceremony, the colonel formally accepted.

Colonel Roosevelt, not being a delegate, did not attend the opening session. He spent much of the afternoon motoring.

A decided feature of the convention was the large number of women dele-when the temporary chairman reached that part of his speech advocating sufone of the balcony rails.

Tonight the various committees of the convention held sessions at the

One form of demonstrative approval adopted by the delegates today was in imitation of the call of the Bull Moose, a long "moose." The head of a bull moose was one of the prominent de-delegates' songs were in praise of the moose. The red bandana had its promi-too. Almost all of the delegates were equipped with them and when they were waved the floor was a sea of red.

INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL OF K. C. MEETS

Formal Opening Three Days' Session This Afternoon.
High Mass in Morning

PARADE SPECTACULAR EVENT

Volume of Business Is Light but Important; Total of 2,000 Visitors Coming.

The thirtieth annual meeting of the supreme council of the Knights of Columbus opened yesterday morning with the first session of the board of supreme directors in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The meeting of the supreme council proper will begin today and continue until Thursday night.

The meeting, which will be held in the city and everything is in readiness for the opening session of the supreme council today.

The St. Vincent's Orphanage band arrived from Denver late yesterday afternoon and gave a short concert in front of the convention headquarters in the Burns building. Last night the young musicians played for some time in front of the Antlers hotel.

The most spectacular feature of the convention will be the parade this morning. The delegates and local visiting knights will assemble in front of the Antlers hotel at 8 o'clock to form for the procession, which will be led by Vice Chief P. D. McCarthy, grand marshal, a platoon of police and the Midland band. The line of march is east on Pikes Peak avenue to Tejon, thence south to Vermijo, countermarch north on Tejon to Pikes Peak, east on Pikes Peak to Nevada, north on Nevada to Platte, west on Platte to Tejon, south to Elbow, thence west to Cascade, south to Kiowa and west to St. Mary's church.

To Hold High Mass.
Solemn pontifical high mass will be held in St. Mary's church at the close of the parade.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Lillis of Kansas City will be the celebrant and the sermon will be delivered by the most Rev. J. J. Glennon, D.D., archbishop of St. Louis. Assisting in the services will be: Assistant priest, the Rev. G. Raber of Colorado Springs; deacons of honor, the Rev. M. J. Foley of Quincy, Ill., and Dr. J. H. Schlemmer of Belleville, Ill.; readers of mass, the Rev. Richard Brady of Lorain, Colo.; subdeacon, the Rev. Thomas J. Wolohan of Pueblo; masters of ceremonies, the Rev. Edward Clarke and the Rev. Felix Abel, both of Colorado Springs.

During the mass the choir will give the following music:

Processional: — Marche Pontificale, Lomans.
Mass in honor of St. Joseph, by W. J. Gay, creator spiritus, by W. J. Gay.
Offertory: — Jesu Dei Vix (Verdi), trio for soprano, tenor and bass. Mrs. W. H. Metz, Messrs. Dolan and Metz.
Elevation: — Onward, Christian Soldiers.

The soloists of the occasion are Madams Metz and Prior and Messrs. Dolan and Haas.

WHAT THE INTERNAL BATH IS DOING FOR HUMANITY

Under our present mode of living, the large intestine (or colon) cannot get rid of all the waste that it accumulates. It does so, and then biliousness, constipation is the result, and that lack of desire to do, to work, to think.

This waste in the colon, as we all know, is extremely poisonous, and if neglected the blood takes up the toxins and brings on countless very serious diseases—appendicitis is directly caused by waste in the colon.

If the colon is kept clean and pure, you will always feel bright and capable—never blue and nervous—always up to "concert pitch."

There is just one internal bath which will keep the colon as sweet and clean as nature demands it to be for perfect health—that is, the J. B. L. Cascade.

Many thousands are using it, and doctors prescribing it with great success all over the world. It is now being sold and explained by Max Kahn, state agent, 27 Independence Bldg., Colorado Springs, phone Main 223. Ask or write for booklet, "Why Man of Today Is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient." A BIG SCOOP AT THE MAJESTIC

A Biblical Masterpiece, Founded on and Showing Scenes Described in the Beautiful American Hymn

"THE HOLY CITY"

ONE of the remarkable scenes shown in this subject is the city of Jerusalem rising out of the ocean. It overwhelms the spectator with scene after scene of wonderment. A minister is shown falling asleep and dreaming of the Holy City. Closely following the lines of the hymn, which are used as sub-titles and faithfully followed, the scenes mentioned are presented.

The Majestic Concert Orchestra, under direction of George Hockenberger, will play the "Holy City" while the picture is shown.

This Will Be the Big Event of the Season, and The Majestic should be packed to the galleries while the pictures are on.

Colorado City DEPARTMENT

CHARTER PETITION IS SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL

The petition for the charter election was presented to the council at its meeting last night, with more than enough signatures. The only action of the council was to refer the petition to City Attorney F. F. Schreiber, with instructions that he report on it at the next regular council meeting, two weeks hence.

City Physician J. W. Smith was delegated to attend the Fifteenth International Congress on Hygiene and Demography, which convenes in Washington, D. C., September 23-28.

The other business coming before the council was mostly routine. Bills and the payroll were passed, the city clerk was ordered to purchase 550 feet of four-inch water pipe for the northeast part of town, and it was decided to put in 1,000 feet of sewer on the south side. Resolutions were passed regarding the installation of new sidewalks.

MASONS MEET TONIGHT

At a convention at 7:30 o'clock this evening Euclid chapter, Royal Arch Masons, will confer the Royal Arch degree on a number of candidates. The meeting will be preceded by a banquet at 6 o'clock. Frank Bishop, deputy grand high priest; Charles H. Jacobson, grand secretary; John Williams, grand lecturer; and other grand officers will be present.

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES

Johnston, Dentist, Exchange Bank Bldg.

The regular monthly meeting of the school board will be held this evening. Only routine business is to be transacted.

A Dickinson of Chanute, Kan., who likes Colorado City so well that he has spent the summer here regularly for five years, is again in the city. He and Justice S. D. Bryan are old friends.

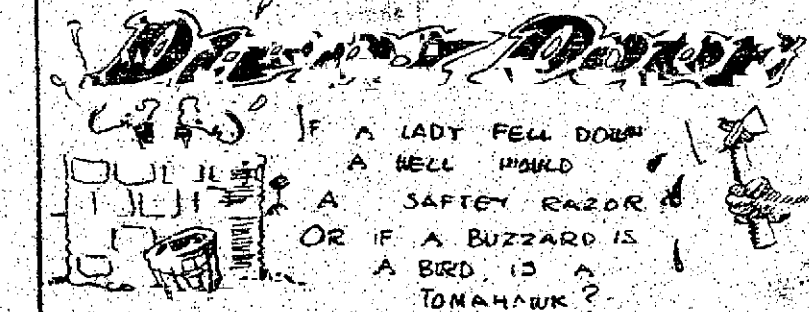

Mrs. J. H. Morse is entertaining Mrs. L. Coulter and her son of Denver. Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Coulter are cousins.

Mrs. E. C. Best, 305 Jackson avenue, has as her guest, Miss Laura Irvin, instructor of history in the East Denver High school.

Captain F. F. Snow, a veteran on the Kansas City police force, together with Mrs. Snow, is visiting his half-brother, J. H. Morse, of this city.

PLATFORM COMMITTEE INTO A LIVELY ROW

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—The committee on platform of the Progressive convention got into a lively row soon after organization was perfected, tonight, and plain words were spoken.

It was apparent from the first that the platform probably could not be completed before Tuesday night, or Wednesday morning. It is due to go to the convention Wednesday afternoon.

After full discussion in the general committee, the plan of the leaders tonight was to appoint a subcommittee of seven to confer with Colonel Roosevelt and to work out the platform with him.

The idea will be to condense into a short, plain, and to the point, advanced ideas to be outlined to the convention tomorrow by the colonel in his so-called "confession of faith" speech. It was said tonight that practically all the progressives in the Roosevelt speech will be incorporated in the platform.

Soon after the committee met, to-nights, the draft of a tentative platform was presented by a group of leaders who had met several times to discuss the matter.

It required an hour and a half to read this tentative platform, and immediately a dozen members of the committee attacked it with vigor. Hugh T. Halbert, of Minnesota, called the platform verbose, pedantic, and lacking in vitality.

"This platform," said Mr. Halbert, "does not even note the birth of this new party."

MRS. TAFT'S FATHER DEAD

CINCINNATI, Aug. 5.—John W. Herron, father of Mrs. William Howard Taft, wife of the president, died at his home here today after an illness of several years. He was 55-years old.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—President Taft and Mrs. Taft will leave Washington tonight for Cincinnati to attend the funeral of John W. Herron, Mrs. Taft's father, who died there early today. The death of Mr. Herron was not unexpected by the president and Mrs. Taft. The president will return to Washington Thursday morning.

MAN AND THE SOIL

Dr. R. V. Pierce, author of the Common Sense Medical Adviser, says "why does not the farmer treat his own body as he treats the land he cultivates. He puts back in phosphate what he takes out in crops, or the land would grow poor. The farmer should put back into his body the vital elements exhausted by labor, or by ill-health induced by some chronic disease." Further, he says, "the great value of my Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in its vitalizing power. It gives strength to the stomach and purity to the blood. It is like the phosphate which supply nature with the substances that build up the crops. The far-reaching action of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its effect on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases that begin in the stomach are cured through the stomach. A bilious spell is simply the result of an effort made by the liver to catch up when over-worked and exhausted. I have found the 'Discovery' to be unsurpassed as a liver regulator and rich blood-maker."

Miss LOTTIE KNEISLY of Porth, Kansas, says: "I will here add my testimony of the effectiveness of your remedy upon myself. I was troubled with indigestion for two years or more. Doctored with three different doctors besides taking numerous kinds of so-called 'stomach cures' but received no permanent relief. I was run down, could not sleep at night with the pain in my chest, caused by gas on the stomach. Was weak, could eat scarcely anything although I was hungry nearly all the time. About one year and a half ago I began taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and after having taken several bottles am nearly cured of stomach trouble. Can now eat without distress and have gained fifteen pounds in weight. I thank you for your remedy and wish you all success in your good work."

Dr. C. H. Ellsworth, dentist, 16 Baldwin St., Rochester, N. Y., says Foley Kidney Pills gave him immediate relief and strengthened him wonderfully.

SERMON WILL FOLLOW BAND CONCERT SUNDAY

The first Sunday afternoon sermon at Stratton park under the auspices of the Colorado Springs Ministerial association will be preached next Sunday afternoon immediately following the Midland band concert, according to action taken at the weekly meeting of the association yesterday.

The sermon will deal with "Community Extension," but the name of the minister has not yet been announced. If the service proves a success, similar meetings will be held each Sunday.

It was announced that Billy Sunday will probably conduct a series of meetings here within the next year. The committee to make arrangements for the meeting is composed of Dr. Samuel Garvin, Dr. W. E. Bennett and Dr. S. E. Brewster of this city; Dr. Duncan of Colorado City and the Rev. R. P. Carson of Manitou.

AN EVENING WITH COLORADO BIRDS

Dr. W. W. Arnold will give one of his entertaining lectures on birds for the benefit of the building fund of the First Presbyterian church, 8 o'clock, Thursday evening, in the lecture room of the church. Rare and interesting lantern slides will illustrate the lecture. Admission: Adults, 25c, and children, 15c.

JUDICIAL CANDIDATES NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

M. W. Purcell of this city, assistant district attorney, was designated as the assembly candidate for the nomination for district attorney, at the Democratic assembly for the Fourth judicial district, held at the court house yesterday afternoon. Joseph E. Ferguson of Cripple Creek, present district attorney, was named as a candidate for district judge, together with the following Colorado Springs men: Henry C. Cassidy, City Attorney; L. McKesson, Police Judge; C. L. Starrett and C. M. Hawkins.

Some of the Teller county delegates, headed by L. A. Van Tilborg, opposed the designation of Ferguson and Van Tilborg made a speech attacking him, but his name was finally recorded as one of the assembly candidates for the nomination.

A. W. Grant, chairman of the judicial central committee, was chairman of the assembly, with Hal Black as secretary. The Fourth judicial district is made up of El Paso, Teller, Lincoln, Cheyenne, Kit Carson, Douglas and Elbert counties.

HAWLEY AND HIS PLAYERS MAKE HIT IN RED CIRCLE

By E. L. C.
From the moment the curtain rises until its fall there is not an instant in "The Red Circle" that is not filled either with excitement or laughter. This admirably staged and ambitiously played comedy-drama opened at the Opera house last evening for a three days' run. The Hawley cast is successful in this play, as it affords ample scope for emotional acting as well as the comedy line. It is a play that a person sees once and then gets up a theater party to it the next evening.

Michael Crogan is an Irish politician worth knowing. Events are worked out with speed and precision during the three acts which the author takes to tell the story that is a check full of surprising situations, smart chatter and snappy epigrams.

The characters in a few spots were rather weak. Director Fisher should insist on the management engaging one or two more performers, as the cast seems rather small at present.

Mr. Hawley as Crogan, the politician, appears in a part in which we saw him once before, and makes about the best Irish character I have ever seen on any stage.

Miss Shirley as Mrs. Crogan is up to her usual standard as the cleverest leading woman ever offered in stock at the Opera house.

Miss Knorr and Miss Gilbert are seen in two clever impersonations, that of Rita and Violet Livingston. Miss Knorr appears in a role new to her here a part with many strong speeches, and she handles them in a way proving her a versatile actress. Miss Gilbert is in a part that would be hard for a larger woman to get as much as she does. Her size does not offset her clever work. Castleman, Shumway and Sears are doing their roles in their usual clever manner.

POSAM CURES HOT WEATHER SKIN TROUBLES

All skin troubles prevalent in hot weather—rashes, inflammation, so-called "summer" eruptions, itching spots, hives, pimples, etc.—demand the use of Poslam for their prompt eradication.

Itching stops at once, burning skin is soothed and comforted.

For clearing the complexion, red or inflamed noses, sunburn, taking soreness out of mosquito bites, stings, burns, etc., Poslam should be used in preference to aught else. Surprising are the results after one application.

In so quickly driving away these troubles, Poslam gives evidence of the wonderful healing power by which it cures eczema and all skin diseases.

POSAM SOAP, used daily for toilet and bath, will keep the skin in healthy condition and improve its color and texture. It offers the healing medication of Poslam in a form particularly beneficial for tender skin.

Robinson Drug Co., Red Cross Pharmacy, and all druggists sell Poslam (price, 50 cents). For free samples, write to the Emergency Laboratories, 22 West 26th Street, New York City.

METHODISTS TO CELEBRATE

The first Methodist day in the Pikes Peak region will be held at Stratton park today, commencing at 10 o'clock this morning.

Provided the weather is favorable the exercises will be held in the open; otherwise, they will be held in the pavilion.

Among the features of the day's program will be addresses by Dr. C. B. Wilcox, formerly pastor of the First Methodist church in this city, but now pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Denver; Bishop Francis J. McDonnell of Colorado; Utah, Wyoming and Arizona; and Dr. Gross Alexander of Nashville, Tenn. A choir of 200 voices, under the direction of J. S. Schneider of the First Methodist church here will furnish the music. All methodists attending will take baskets and at noon a picnic lunch will be served.

The program for the day is as follows:

D. C. Bybee, teaming contractor, living at 688 Keeling Court, Canton, 10, is now well rid of a severe and annoying case of kidney trouble. His back ached and he was bothered with headaches and dizzy spells. He took Foley Kidney Pills just as directed, and in a few days he felt much better. His life and strength seemed to come back. His backache left him, he slept well, and he got up free from headache and dizzy spells. I am now all over my trouble and recommend Foley Kidney Pills to everyone." The Robinson Drug Co.

EL PASO UP TO $1.15

El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company stock was again the feature on the Mining exchange yesterday, and after the sale of 16,000 shares it closed strong at $1.15, 5 cents higher than last Saturday. Henry Sachs yesterday received word that the stock was rising on the New York curb and in Paris, and said he was advised that it would reach $1.60.

D. D. Aiken has resigned as secretary of the company, as a result of the removal of the office to Denver. It is probable that the main office will be removed to New York soon, and Mr. Aiken's interests here would not permit his making the change. His successor has not been chosen.

WILL TALK TOMORROW AT M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH

Dr. Gross Alexander of Nashville, Tenn., editor of the Methodist Tribune of the Methodist church, South, will deliver his lecture on "The Masterpiece of the Master, or the Greatest Discourse of Jesus," at the Methodist church, South, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged, and the public is invited.

Must Believe It

When Well-Known Colorado Springs People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Colorado Springs the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony.

Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

Mrs. Martha Townsend, 408 S. Weber St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "Three years ago I suffered from kidney complaint. The kidney secretions bothered me, and I had headaches. My heart palpitated, backache annoyed me and it often seemed as if a sharp knife were being thrust into my back. I doctored and used remedies, but it was not until I took Doan's Kidney Pills that I received a cure. I know that this remedy can be thoroughly relied upon."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and get no other.

DALLAS NEWS PUBLISHES VIEWS OF LOCAL SCENES

The Dallas (Tex.) Morning News last Friday again published a picture of a local scene, this time a view taken in Stratton park. The picture used about a week ago was a street scene showing the beauty of center parks. The caption over the article and out in "An Example of Civic Attractiveness." Beneath the picture is the following:

"This enchanting view was taken in one of the beautiful parks nesting at the foot of the mountains of Colorado Springs. Stratton park comprises about 100 acres, located at the mouth of the South and North Cheyenne canyons. It was laid out by the late famous Winfield Scott Stratton. The park is one of the favorite picnic spots, not only for residents of Colorado Springs, but for hundreds of tourists who, spend their summers in the Pikes Peak region."

HOUSES FOR SALE

The Board of Education of School District No. 11 will sell at auction on the premises, on August 8th at 10 o'clock a. m., 1912, to the highest bidder for cash, the following property to-wit: The houses, fences and outhouses at numbers 370 and 323 N. Nevada Ave., and numbers 110, 112, 114, 120 and 124 Cheyenne Ave. Said houses to be removed from the premises on or before Aug. 27, 1912. Van E. Rouse, Secretary.

PAVING WORK WILL BE FINISHED TOMORROW

George L. River, local superintendent for J. E. Hill, paving contractor, said yesterday that the street paving work here will be completed by tomorrow noon. By this time the work will have taken 25 days longer than the time stipulated in the contract. However, it is not believed that the city will attempt to collect the forfeit of $50 a day for each day overtime. The company has rushed the work as fast as possible and has been fair with the city in all its dealings, says the commissioners. The delay has been caused for the most part by unfavorable weather and accidents over which the contractors had no control. The city, however, may attempt to collect a part of the forfeit if the company asks too much for extras not covered in the contract.

The secretary of the Horticultural society is at his room in the court house every day.

"THE PRINCE CHAP" PLAY THAT APPEALS

By G. I. H.

If Edward Peple had never written anything but "The Prince Chap," and if Malcolm Duncan had never presented any other character on the stage than that of Billy Peyton, both these gentlemen would have amply discharged their obligations to their fellow men. For certainly no one can see Peple's charming, appealing little play, and watch Malcolm Duncan live the part of "The Prince Chap," whose story after many years ends so happily, without being the better for it.

"The Prince Chap" holds the boards at the Burns theater this week.

If I were to meet an acquaintance who could declare to me that he had witnessed "The Prince Chap" without a moistening of the eyes, a tightening of the throat and a laugh of pure sympathy, I would make a mental note of him, and when I heard of wickedness being perpetrated by unknown persons, I would regard him with suspicion. For surely the person who can sit through a performance of this delicious little play without absorbing its atmosphere, without himself being moved by a desire to discharge the obligations of his life cheerfully, manfully and sweetly, must be dead to all those feelings which make life worth living in these bustling days.

For those unfortunates who, in this delightful season, are suffering from a "grouch" of any sort, I recommend "The Prince Chap." For those who apprehend that they may suffer from a "grouch," I recommend "The Prince Chap." And for the great many men and women with human kindness in their hearts, with their share of sorrows and joys, and with the sympathy which makes us better, I unhesitatingly recommend "The Prince Chap."

A Play With a Mission.

In other words, I believe in "The Prince Chap" and I want everybody to know him. If we had more plays like it, the public would have less excuse for thundering against the playhouse, and the stage would advance further on its avowed mission of education and betterment.

The two children who play the part of Claudia in childhood are wonderful: Maxine Elliott Hicks, aged 5, and Helen Thebus, aged 8. Better work than these youthful actresses give would be an impossibility. Justina Wayne, who appears in the last act as the grown-up Claudia, is startlingly like the Claudia of 5 in face, manner and voice, and she handles the pretty part in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. Alfred Cross is a likable Earl of Huntington; George Murdoch is capital as the faithful Runnion; Preston Kendall, Richard Carlyle, Earle Gardner and Lloyd Mitchell are excellent in minor parts.

Minnie Louise Ferguson plays the brief part of Mrs. Harrington carefully, and Florence Hart scores in the thankless role of Alice, the princess of Claudia's favorite story. Special comment is due Audra Alden, who plays the grotesque part of the character creation of this odd creature and it is a real test.

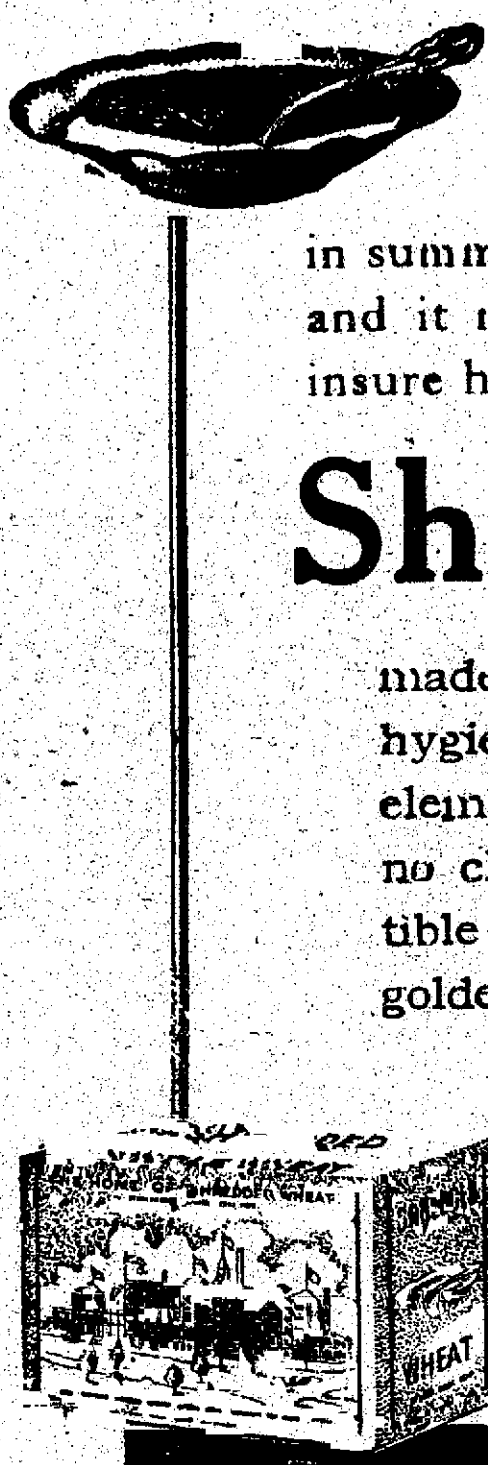

Go and see "The Prince Chap." It will do you a world of good and contribute largely to your seeing things worldly in a new light.

What the Press Agents Say

NOTES FROM THE BURNS

Matinee today 2:30.
"Sure—It's 'The Prince Chap.'"
"Another capacity attendance certain. The box office opens this morning at 9 o'clock.
Plenty of good seats yet to be had, but by noon—
K. of C. delegates occupied nearly the entire parquet last night.
The requests for another musical comedy assumes the proportions of a demand.
The orchestral numbers this week constitute a collection of rare musical gems.
Prof. William Fink's violin solo, Walther's prize song, "Wagner-Wilhelmine" is a treat.
Admission may be had to the balcony this afternoon at 1:45; seats unsold and only 25 cents each.
Many reserve seats by telephone and which practice we encourage—but we are forced to release all such reservations for the matinee performances at 2 o'clock.
"A dainty love story told with charm. A success of sentiment," says the New York Times dramatic reviewer of "The Prince Chap."
The New York Evening Globe says the same thing only a little differently: "The Prince Chap" is as charming as a May morning. It brings a story back of the old, old charm of the days when we were younger."
If you would see the Burns company at their best you must see "The Prince Chap." Our scale of prices will prove no barrier.
Helen Thebus, aged 8, and Maxine Elliott Hicks, aged 5, are as clever a pair of stage children as one could hope to see. These little folks have important roles in "The Prince Chap."

"Aside from being, in my opinion, a superb play, 'The Prince Chap' has most exquisite touches of delicate sentiment and surface outcroppings of a real philosophy."—Augustus Thomas, author of "The Witching Hour," and other famous play successes.

"THE HOLY CITY," TWO REEL ECCLIASTIC MASTER-PIECE AT THE MAJESTIC

We present with a great deal of pride to the many good friends and patrons of the Majestic, "The Holy City," masterpiece, "The Holy City," founded on the beautiful American hymn:

Last night I lay asleeping
—There came a dream so fair,
I stood in old Jerusalem
Beside the temple there,
I heard the children singing
And ever as they sang Methought the voice of angels
From heaven in answer rang.

It's a gorgeous production, correctly composed, presented by a superb company of actors, requiring months of preparation and work to complete. This is a rare artistic presentation, handling the delicate theme in a masterly manner.

We especially invite all clergymen and all those interested in Sunday school work to see this production. It is uplifting and enlightening. It's here for one day only, Tuesday, August 6. Appropriate music will accompany its presentation. Remember, one day only.

Dr. Bushee Resigns to Go to State University

Dr. F. A. Bushee, for several years head of the department of economics at Colorado college, has resigned to take a professorship in the University of Colorado, at Boulder. The formal announcement of the change will come from Boulder in a few days, and Colorado college is withholding its announcement of his successor for this reason.

Dr. Bushee holds the degree of Ph. D. from Dartmouth. Before coming here he was a professor at Clark college, Worcester, Mass. He is one of the best-known economists in the west, and has spent much time studying abroad. He is the author of many articles on economics.

Deaths and Funerals

J. A. VAN EATON DIES

J. A. Van Eaton, aged 58 years, of 211 North Walnut street, who had been a resident of Colorado Springs for the last 14 years, died late Saturday night at his home, after a short illness. He was formerly associated with the water commissioner's office, and more recently with the real estate and insurance firm of Gilbert & Van Eaton. He had been active in local politics. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lina Van Eaton, and two sons, Robert Van Eaton of Downey, Ida, and Plummer Van Eaton, a student of Colorado college. Funeral arrangements will not be made until the arrival of the son from Idaho.

The funeral of Miss Grace Roche, who died last Wednesday in Portland, Ore., will be held from St. Mary's church, this city, tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock. The body will be taken to St. Peter's, Minn., for interment.

News of Local Courts

Magistrate Starrett yesterday fined J. Manley and H. Smith, for vagrancy, and the fines were suspended on condition that they leave town. In the same court, Edward Taylor was fined $10 for begging.

In the county court, yesterday, Mary

McNair filed suit for divorce from William S. McNair, charging cruelty, nonsupport and desertion. They were married at Rhineland, Wis., July 17, 1905.

The case of Charles Williams, charged with beating a board bill, has been set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, in Justice Dunnington's court. Williams was released on $200 bond.

The following divorces were granted in the county court yesterday: Besie Meisenbach from F. J. Meisenbach, on the ground of cruelty, and Ida A. Thompson from H. C. Thompson.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1912.

THE RALLY AND ITS MEANING

IN the speeches that were delivered at the Temple theater last night there was one thing that stood out above all others with distinctive clearness. It is this: The fight being made by the Progressive Republicans is a clean-cut, out-in-the-open, to-the-finish fight against bi-partisan, big business, machine politics in Colorado.

In the size and enthusiasm of the audience that greeted the speakers a second thing was made as evident as the sun at midday. It is this: The people of Colorado Springs and El Paso County are alive to the issue; they are heartily in sympathy with the anti-machine fight; they will not tolerate a continuation of the misgovernment that has so long been a disgrace to Colorado.

Appeal to party loyalty, "pointing with pride," "viewing with alarm," campaign buncombe, political clap-trap, hypocritical demagoguery, and charlatanism were conspicuous by their absence. Instead of platitudes the speakers gave facts; instead of making a fetish of party harmony or regularity, they appealed for the support of voters, regardless of party affiliations, on issues of first importance; instead of straddling and vacillating they announced their convictions with unmistakable precision; instead of asking for the suffrages of the people for reasons dictated by party expediency they enunciated a fundamental principle upon which they based their appeal. The principle is this: Fundamentally our campaign is to restore to the Republicans their party and to the people their state government.

The consistency of the position taken by the Progressive Republicans of Colorado as outlined by Stewart, Vincent and Griffith on national, state and local issues can be fully appreciated by understanding this basic principle which is directing their course of action: They are fighting machine politics in state and nation. They are fighting to restore popular government.

In the national Republican convention Guggenheim, Archie Stevenson and Tom Devine were preeminent in securing the nomination for President Taft contrary to the expressed wish of Republican voters. Likewise in the county and state assemblies of Colorado the pernicious activity of these same men was evident in a thousand ways. Progressive Republicans must understand that the only way to fight these forces of evil in Colorado is to fight them all along the line in county, state and nation. As the Denver Republican has well said: "Good men nominated by the machine are bad candidates."

The state program of the Progressive Republicans has as its object this: The elimination of big business from politics and the destruction of gang rule. The voters of this state understand this issue. They are fighting mad. They showed it last night. All that is needed to secure the overthrow of the old regime is an opportunity for free expression. That opportunity will be given for the first time in the September primaries. The meeting last night indicated that Republican voters are going to give an overwhelming indorsement to Stewart, Vincent, Griffith and the other Progressive Republicans who are standing with them.

PROVISIONS OF THE NEW PRIMARY LAW RELATING TO UNITED STATES SENATORS

ACCORDING to the new primary law the names of candidates for the United States senate may be placed upon the primary ballot either by assembly designation or by petition signed by 300 voters. Such candidates are then voted for in exactly the same way as are candidates for the various county and state offices. "The name of each candidate for the United States senate who shall have received a plurality of the votes for United States senator on his party ticket shall be placed on the regular election ballot with the proper party designated opposite each name.

At the regular election voters will designate their preferences for United States senator as well as for the popularly elected officers. Of course, such a procedure does not elect United States senators; the election is made by the state legislature.

Legislative candidates may sign either of the following declarations:

Statement No. 1.
One of the statements he may make is as follows:

"I hereby declare to the people of the state of Colorado, as well as to the people of my legislative district, that during my term of office I will always vote for the candidate for United States senator who has received the highest number of the popular votes for that office at the general election next preceding the election of a senator in congress without regard to my individual preference."

If a candidate for the legislature signs either one of these pledges he is morally, though not legally, bound to vote for his party's choice or the people's choice, as the case may be, for the United States senate.

These provisions are in every way admirable. By them a method has been secured to avoid the constitutional difficulty which makes impossible the election of United States senators by popular vote and yet accomplishes that result.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

TOO MUCH NOISE.
To the Editor of The Gazette:
The trains on the Denver and Rio Grande tracks are so noisy that the people living on Cascade and Wood avenues are constantly disturbed by them. Some engines puff and blow and stand still and let off steam; others seem to be furnished with a perpetual bell which never stops ringing from Roswell to the depot. It is not necessary for either trolley cars or automobiles to make a continual noise for the safety of the public, and why should the trains disturb the rest of hundreds of people, to many of whom sleep means health? INSOMNIA.

INDORSES MR. HARVEY'S LETTER.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Kindly allow me to indorse the letter of Mr. Harvey in The Gazette, regarding auto restrictions, and to add one more complaint. After touring the state, taking in the Royal Gorge and Skyline drive at Canon City, the Estes park trip up the Big Thompson, the Ute Pass from Manitou, to find the most important and beautiful drive in this region barred to motorists is a shame. I refer to Cheyenne canon and the High Drive. What reason there is in refusing to allow autos to make these trips I cannot understand. After driving a thousand miles in order to view the scenery about Colorado Springs, to be told that one must hire a carriage in order to see your most beautiful canyon, certainly shows a lack of good sense on the part of someone.
J. W. SHILLING (Nebraska).

MR. HARVEY'S MACHINE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
I wish to take issue with one H. B. Harvey, whose article appears in your Open Parliament of August 1. There is no doubt in my mind that your street department has been to a great deal of extra expense and time in looking after our most excellent paving. Mr. Harvey is probably not aware of the great improvement and general progress made in our roads within the Pike Peak region, and while the road from Boulder street to Manitou is not all it should be, yet I believe that portion of it which lies within the borders of Colorado Springs will compare favorably with the streets of unpaved towns.

While I am not familiar with the fees charged in other cities and states for registration of visiting autos, yet I cannot believe that the local fee is excessive. I do believe that the tourist visiting apparatus a system whereby their visiting taxes taken out in one town would be recognized in any other part of the state for a limited time of 30 days.

The statement he makes that there is only one-tenth as many tourists as last year is absurd and should be corrected at once.

From the route described by Mr. Harvey I take it that he must stay some where on East Boulder and that he must frequently be compelled to travel the Manitou road; evidently he either has business there in which case he will help pay a good road, or he has selected this route as the only one which his machine can negotiate. In fact I can see Mr. Harvey with a one-cylinder motor car of '06 vintage, or some cheap second-hand four-cylinder machine, with three cylinders missing fire most of the time, with small wheels, short wheelbase and poor spring suspension.

I really believe that most of Mr. Harvey's road criticism will be forgotten if he will buy an up-to-date machine with ample tires.

FROM OTHER PENS

PRINCIPLES VS. PICKINGS.
From the Rocky Mountain News.

For more years than it is good to remember, Colorado has been under the political domination of a combination that has come to be known as the "bi-partisan machine." Both Democratic and Republican organizations have given allegiance to the same masters, received money from the same purse, and pursued identical policies. As a consequence, the people have been consistently defied and special privilege consistently abused. Nor when specific pledges were written into party platforms was the situation improved, for session after session has seen these pledges repudiated by the very men who were most glib in making them. The legislative leader of the bi-partisan machine was, and is now, Senator Thomas McCue. And it was McCue who forced the law to the people that a large number of Democrats broke away from the so-called "organization," and formed what is known as the Platform Democracy. These men and women protested against "party regularity" that entailed party discipline, and banded together in firm resolve to end a situation as disgraceful as intolerable.

Last Thursday a Democratic county assembly was held. This assembly, feeling it may be mentioned, was written into the direct primary law by the bi-partisan legislators under McCue, and is, in its very essence, an attempt to interfere with the operations of the law.

The Progressive Republicans refused to have anything to do with this party assembly, but the Platform Democrats, for one reason and another, took no such decisive step, and entered the assembly. It is impossible to say what they expected, but what happened was precisely what should have been expected.

In control of the gathering that was supposed to speak for the democracy of the city and county of Denver, the Platformists found the very men whom they had organized to fight in the legislature, and in whom the people had reposed so deeply, in the very election. Senator McCue dictated, and permitted among the delegates as delegates at large to the county assembly, were Hyder, Conlon, Mahoney, Davoren, Phillips, Lorber, Aichele, Howe and others of similar kind.

To the credit of some 300 men and women, they set to the work of forming an assembly that should reaffirm the principles upon which Platform Democracy had been based, and which principles had received the indorsement of the people.

At the commencement of deliberations, however, the spirit of harmony again became manifest in the person of various office seekers. "Let us return," they pleaded, "of course you were right in leaving, but you did the RIGHT thing in the WRONG way. If we are going to fight, let's fight LEGALLY."

Senator McCue, in welcoming them back to the fold, gravely remarked that "it was no time for a bolt," and the ex-bolters, just as gravely, agreed that this was very, very true. Whereupon they "got to going," in the interests of "party unity," and agreed upon a "compromise" declaration. Hyder and Conlon were dropped from the list of delegates, but the names of Mahoney, Davoren, Aichele, Lorber, Howe and McCue were not disturbed.

An amazing picture indeed that is held up to the admiring gaze of the public—McCue and his crew solemnly whacking Conlon and Hyder away from the councils of the Democratic party, and then turning to the ex-bolters with the glad announcement, "NOW we are pure."

It remains to be seen what the people will say about it—and that they WILL say on September 10 is not to be doubted.

Now, as in 1906, the Democratic party in Colorado can find profit in these burning words of William J. Bryan:

"If the Democratic party has not virtue enough to spew out those who traffic in politics for the advantage of the corporations to which they belong, it does not deserve victory nor can it hope for it."

The Souvenir Hunter

By RUTH CAMERON.

What is a thief?
That sounds like a simple question, doesn't it? And yet I know a great many people who apparently do not know how to define that term.

Just recently a young girl who belongs to an excellent family, and who has always seemed to me like a girl of principle, showed me with pride a collection of souvenir spoons bearing the monograms of various hotels. "Jack is collecting them for me," she said. "You know he attends so many of those athletic banquets, and he almost always manages to bring me a spoon as a souvenir."

Jack is her fiance. We are often told that one of the first duties of women is to inspire their men folk to live up to higher moral standards.

Again, the travelers who visit places of historic interest who do not know how to define the term "thief." The homes of famous people, which have been thrown open to the public have suffered from these kleptomaniacs, only the caretakers really know. Nothing is too small, nothing too large and nothing too sacred for the souvenir hunter to bear away. I believe it was Beethoven's piano which was entirely robbed of its treasures by this variety of thief.

Now perhaps you think it is only the intellectually lower class of people who commit such outrages. Don't you believe it. Surely we might expect to find the real upper classes of society in the colleges if anywhere. And yet I remember hearing a college girl tell that the hotel always charge an unusually large sum for a college dinner because they had to reckon on the silver they would lose.

On a recent sea trip I had an insight into one of the saddest features of this souvenir hunting. Tell me, Mrs. Souvenir Hunter, when you make way with a spoon or a button plate or some other bit of bric-a-brac from whom do you think you are stealing? You don't like that word? It's the right one, but I'll phrase it this time, from whom do you think you are collecting this souvenir? The hotel, you say, or the company. Sometimes, perhaps, but not on the ship in which I traveled, and how it probably is arranged in many cases. At the end of the trip the china and silver is counted, the loss reckoned and divided among the table servants, and the loss, an officer assumed. The officer comes to $10.00 a trip.

Think of it. $10.00 a trip stolen every few days from those poor folks, by people who must be at least decently well off.

The thief who steals her spoons from a wealthy woman is a greater criminal in the eyes of the law than this kind of thief, but in my mind he isn't half as despicable.

Seven famous calendars

NO. 3 THE MOHAMMEDAN CALENDAR

The Mohammedan era, or era of the Hira, employed by Turkey, Persia, Arabia, etc., is dated from the flight of Mohammed from Mecca to Medina, which was in the night of Thursday, the 12th of July, 622 A. D., and it commenced on the day following. The years of the Hira are lunar months, and always consist of 12 lunar months, commencing with the appearance of the moon, without any intercalation to keep them in the same season with respect to the sun, so that they retrograde through all the seasons in about 32½ years.

They are also partitioned into cycles of thirty years, nineteen of which are common years of 354 days each, and the other eleven are intercalary years, having an additional day appended to the last month. The mean length of the Mohammedan year is, therefore, 354.1136 days, or 354 days, 8 hours and 46 minutes, which divided by 12 gives 29 days, 12 hours and 44 minutes, as the time of a mean lunation, and this differs from the astronomical mean lunation by only 2.8 seconds. This small error will amount to a day in about 2,400 years.

The names of the consecutive months of the Mohammedan year are, as follows: Muharram, Saphar, Rabi' I, Rabi' II, Jomada I, Jomada II, Rajab, Shaaban, Ramadan, Shawwal, Dulkaada and Dulhagga. The festival days of the Mohammedans is New Year on the first of Muharram; the birthday of the Prophet, the eleventh day of the third month; talking of Constantinople, the 20th day of the fifth month; the exaltation of Mohammed, on the 20th day of the seventh month; Barak's night, the 15th of Shaaban; and the Grand Nairam, on Shawwal 1, 2 and 3.

To find what year of the Christian Era (A. D.) is represented by a given year of the Mohammedan Era (A. H.), the rule is: Subtract from the Mohammedan date the product of three times the last complete number of centuries, and add 622 to the remainder. This rule, however, gives an exact result only for the first day of a Mohammedan century.

The first, seventh, eleventh and twelfth months of the Mohammedan year are sacred, and during these months it is not lawful to wage war. The twelfth month is consecrated to the annual pilgrimage to Mecca, and, in order to protect pilgrims, the preceding, or eleventh month, and the following, or first of the year, are also inviolable.

The seventh month is reserved for the fast which Mohammed substituted for a month (the ninth) devoted by the Arabs in pre-Islamic times to excessive eating and drinking. Mohammed selected Friday as the sacred day of the week, and several fanciful reasons are adduced by the Prophet himself and by his followers for the selection. The most probable motive was the desire to have a holy day, different from that of the Jews and that of the Christians.

It is certain, however, that Friday was a day of solemn gatherings and public festivities among the pre-Islamic Arabs. Abstinence from work is enjoined on Friday, but it is recommended that public prayers and worship must be performed on that day.

MRS. BALLEW WEEPS, BUT NOT IN GRIEF

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Aug. 5.—Informed last night of her husband's tragic death at the end of a 200-mile hunt, Marie Ballew, the 16-year-old wife of George Ballew, the South Platte bandit, broke down and wept.

But her tears were not shed in grief for her mate's untimely end.

"I felt George because he abused me, but I am sorry now that I ever went away," said Mrs. Ballew, who is staying on the ranch of her stepfather, W. G. Stewart, a few miles from Las Cruces.

"It was June 18," she continued, "when mamma came to take me home. She had been down here on the ranch and came up to see us. While she was there I told her of how George had treated me and it made her angry. She wanted me to go home with her, but I knew that George wouldn't like it."

"She kept talking about it to me and I began to see that I ought to go home whether George liked it or not. He had no regard for my feelings at all and was just as cruel to me while she was there as before. Of course that made me feel humiliated and I just had to resent it more than I would have if she hadn't been there."

"Finally I agreed to go and I was to tell George that it was only a visit. I would probably have gone back if he had not done as he did, but I didn't intend to go back until he had changed."

"We didn't want to make any trouble if we could possibly help it, so mamma asked him if he would mind if I went back with her for a while. Maybe she just said to go part way, I'm not sure, for I didn't hear that part of it."

"He said that I couldn't go until fall. He said he wouldn't have any use for me at all after that. That hurt and mamma was angry and so was I. I was humiliated awfully, too. As soon as he was out of the room we made a plan to leave the place. I didn't hang back at all, either. I was surprised to think that I had stayed so long under the circumstances and I was all ready to go."

THE HASKIN LETTER

CAMP LIFE
(II—THE BOY SCOUT CAMPERS.)
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Thousands of Boy Scout camps are now being occupied throughout the country and each is conducted after the routine laid down in the Scout manual. In most of the larger cities there is a local council which makes itself responsible for the equipment and direction of these camps. In some instances the boys themselves raise the money for the expenses of their camp and then go out under the direction of a competent scoutmaster. In others the organization assumes all responsibility for the running expenses and the boys pay weekly board varying from three to five dollars. In these camps the boys have the opportunity to train for advancement in grade as well as for the numerous merit badges.

There is a military precision in the camp routine which appeals to every scout. The first call comes at 6:30, when every scout is expected to turn out for his bath in the stream or lake nearby. Breakfast comes at 7 and in most camps it has been prepared by the boys themselves who include certain amounts of camp cooking in each class of scout work. After breakfast the bedding must be aired and all parts of the camp put in order. When this work is to be done by the campers, relays are appointed for the different tasks such as the dish washing, disposal of camp refuse and other tasks. The camp should be in perfect order by 9 o'clock, when the scouting, camp and practice begin. Usually the swimming comes in the morning. Dinner comes at 1 o'clock, after which a talk on some form of camp craft usually is given by the leader.

There is so much to be done in the camp, so many things to be learned, so many forms of exercise to take, that little time is wasted during the day, although a period of rest usually is imposed in the afternoon. But the change of activities is the best kind of rest. There are the heavy athletics, calling into play every muscle of the body, followed, perhaps by a slow walk in observation of the plants and trees, knowledge of which is required for their devoted promotion. They study birds and perhaps hunt them with a camera, but the true scout would scorn to injure them or even frighten them needlessly. Then there is signaling to be done by means of the scout sign language. There are signs to be placed upon trees and other objects for the benefit of the scouts who follow. For every hour of the day there is some special diversion of occupation calculated to stimulate some faculty of the body and mind.

Supper comes at 7 o'clock, and after this the best of all the day—the campfire. Every body finds great pleasure in the campfire councils, during which the day's work is compared, the scout songs sung and some good stories told. Perhaps the lessons in patriotism and citizenship, if begun round the campfire by a clever scoutmaster, will have a value and interest added to them which impress the boys more deeply than by other means. Sometimes the program is varied by a real war dance to the music of the scout war song and rally which, although seeming glibly to the uninitiated, possess a subtle fascination for the boys who are qualified for a party of scouts as a trophy for a merit in elementary astronomy as seen with the naked eye and the scoutmaster on a bright night may withdraw this party from the campfire for an hour or two while he introduces them to Orion, the Great Bear and other familiar figures to be seen on a starry night. Perhaps when this party return to the campfire its members will be refreshed with a treat of freshly roasted corn prepared camp fashion by the other scouts during their absence.

Camp craft in full requires a knowledge of many things. The first is the selection of a location and then the pitching of a tent. It may include the manufacturing of the tent from pattern and descriptions given in the camp manual. It includes the building of a campfire, not always in easy matter, especially in rainy weather, and the extinguishing of the fire in a manner to prevent forest fires. In addition, it must provide a knowledge of camp cookery and the amount of food required for a given number for a day.

The scouts of St. Louis are enlisting in a war against mosquitoes. More than 2,000 boys in that city are pledged to this work. Under the direction of Scoutmaster Henry C. Thompson, they are learning to disinfect pools and swamps where mosquitoes breed. One gallon of petroleum will cover 1,000 square feet of water and thus stop the breeding of the insects. The task of killing these stagnant water-breeding insects might safely be entrusted to the scouts because their out-of-door life has fitted them for it. It is believed that with their help, the prevalence of malaria from the disease-breeding mosquito can be almost entirely overcome. In Sioux City, Ia., the Boy Scouts have been enlisted by the health department in a campaign for the destruction of rats which have and for a week, besides dish washing and the keeping of all cooking utensils in proper order. Then there comes the following of trails, the relocation of oneself if lost, the forecasting of the weather by the observation of the sky, the sun and the direction of the wind, and countless other bits of information well understood by the Indian, but requiring to be learned by his little white brother.

Hiking Expeditions Popular.
For the boys who are not able to spend their time in camp for a continuous period, hiking trips are arranged which perhaps may include one or two nights' sleeping in the open and the joys of a campfire. The leaders of the scout movement find that in some respects the hiking expeditions have advantages over the located camp and lucky is the boy who combines both during his summer vacation. In the change of scenery of the hike the boys have a chance to make all the observations of camp life, such as the measuring of the height and distances of trees, tree climbing, and felling, swimming and stalking, and in addition have a variety of locations from which to make their observations. These hikes are planned carefully by the leader, care being made to keep near the woods and avoid the villages and towns.

Last year a party of Boy Scouts covered a hike of 700 miles in the north-west. Twenty boys from one New York camp hiked across the state to visit the boys at another camp. During the present season the increased number of camps have rendered such exchanges of courtesies more frequent. There is considerable correspondence between the scout troops of the different cities and hikes from one camp to another are frequent. In one New York camp, hiking has become so popular that, while the camp has only accommodation for 20 boys, it has had an average of 30 enrolled during the season, one-third of the party being engaged successively in hiking trips of several days' duration.

Has Proved of Civic Value.

Aside from the activities for their own pleasure, the scouts are deemed to be no limit to the work which is being accomplished by the Boy Scouts for the public good, so that already the scout movement has proved of civic value throughout the country. The state forest commissioner of Pennsylvania has given testimony to the aid rendered by the scouts of that state in fighting the chestnut blight and the forestry department of New Hampshire acknowledges their aid in fighting the forest fires in that state. Since fire fighting is one of the activities for which merit badges are awarded, it is believed that the scouts will soon become recognized as valuable aid in overcoming the fires in the great northwestern forests.

In Washington, D. C., the Boy Scouts are giving active help in the anti-dirt campaign which has been in progress. They are giving some time every day to the cleaning up of back yards and vacant lots and the removal of articles harmful to the health of the city. In Seattle, the scouts are not only cleaning up the vacant lots but turning them to account. They are cultivating them and raising flowers and vegetables which they sell, thereby earning money to buy their uniforms and camp equipment.

SHIRTWAIST AND KIMONO CASES FOR THE TRAVELLER

DESIGNED BY ELEANOR NORRIS

THE FINISHED CASE

KIMONO CASE

When preparing for a journey, and especially if the clothes must be packed in a small space, this shirtwaist cover will be found most useful.

A scalloped flap, on which the initial or monogram can be embroidered, is worked on one end of the case, which can be opened out flat, and an embroidery design is worked on the other end. The edges of the case are either neatly hemstitched or bound with tape.

After the waists are laid in the case, it is folded and buttoned along the edge, while the flap is buttoned over the embroidered end.

Fine huckaback is perhaps the best material to use, and then the embroidery design should be outlined in color, the background of the pattern being woven by carrying a thread back and forth under the loose threads of the material.

If an initial is embroidered on the flap, it is embroidered in the same way with outline stitch and weaving.

White or colored linen of a plain weave can also be used for the case and then the embroidery can either be done in solid satin stitch or in outlining with the ground of the design filled with seeding.

A kimono case, envelope shape, into which a kimono of thin silk or silk muslin can be slipped, will be just the thing to carry in a suit case or bag.

Along the back of this case, strips are sewed so that a pair of ribbon slippers can be held in place.

A bag of this sort can be made of pongee, the embroidery done in outlining and seeding or

In solid satin stitch, and the owner's initials may be placed in the open space of the design.

Fine huckaback, barred muslin, or linen could also be used for this case, which will take up very little room when packed.

MISS NORRIS' ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

MR. E. B.—A very pretty round bag of macrame may be made in the same manner as those of raffia, substituting the macrame twine for the raffia and using exactly the same knots.

This would make a very pretty as well as very serviceable bag, as all macrame work is durable.

Cannot give addresses or names through the columns of the paper, but if you send a stamped self-addressed envelope, will tell you where you can secure a booklet on macrame lace.

Curtains for Summer

A. B. N.—Your choice of stenciled curtains for Summer use is certainly a very good one.

Stencilling is quickly done and makes charming curtains, but as the material used is very thin, care must be taken so that the colors will not run, and for this reason, the brush must be much drier than when stencilling crash.

A design, which would be delightful for a dining-room is a maple leaf pattern, carried out in greens, yellow, red and brown. It is a combination, which will look well with almost any color scheme, and is most appropriate for a dining-room curtain. Fruit designs are also very good patterns for these curtains.

A plain, neat hem is all the finish necessary.

Pongee is a good material for Summer curtains and also scrim, Calcutta and cheese cloth, which are sheer and very cool-looking.

Buckle Bow

A. M.—The buckle bows now worn are so easily made and so pretty that every girl should have one.

A tiny scalloped bow of linen with two circles the size of a quarter, buttonholed, allowing one-fourth of an inch between them, at the center, forms the buckle. The outer edge of the bow may be decorated with a few dots or eyelets, or a spray of solid embroidery may be worked between the outer and inner buttonholed edges.

A piece of velvet ribbon, with the edges turned back, forming a point, and tacked in place is then drawn through the linen buckle and a very smart piece of neckwear is thus formed.

Instead of being folded the ends of the ribbon may merely be cut so they will not fray and then drawn through the embroidered buckle.

Punch Work Buttons

J. B.—Some of the very newest buttons, used for dress trimmings, are those covered with punch embroidered linen.

The button mold is first covered with either colored or plain silk, and then a disk of punch embroidery is put over it. The holes of the punch work should be quite large, with the mesh of the linen very loose, and then the finished effect will be quite like crochet.

These buttons form an inexpensive trimming for Summer gowns, and will certainly be a boon to anyone who cannot make the popular crochet buttons, as the punch work is easily done, and the finished button very smart looking.

Colored linen, over white, or a white linen over colored silk would give just the necessary touch of color to show the embroidery with good effect.

Useful Case

Mrs. A. M.—A case, which would prove a real convenience, especially when traveling with a suit case, is made in the popular envelope shape, with the turned-over flap, fastened on the side.

To make the case more roomy, a puffing is inserted along the sides and bottom of the case, which permits of the case being packed flat, but increases its capacity.

Gloves, handkerchiefs, veils, and other small necessities may be slipped into this case, and then they will all be at hand, and the contents of the entire suit case need not be turned over to find some small article.

To Fasten Threads in Punch Work

A. D. S.—There are two kinds of needles, that can be used for punch embroidery, one is round and the other three sided, and both are used for the work with good results.

It is almost impossible to use the punch needle to fasten the working threads, and for this a sewing needle is used.

When beginning the work the thread is tied and the end then fastened with a sewing needle. When a new thread is needed, the two ends are tied in a flat knot and when working draw the knot underneath so that it will not show. After the work is finished, thread the working section into a sewing needle and fasten the thread.

Substitute for Bridal Veil

Ada B.—A band of tulle, outlined on each side with orange blossoms, can be worn if you do not wish a veil. The tulle band is fastened at the side, and the fastening covered by a small bunch of orange blossoms.

This is an especially pretty and becoming substitute for the bridal veil and as the tulle is so soft, it will not give that severe look to the face that the velvet bands some times do, and would surely be most attractive.

To Apply Insertion

Mrs. W. W.—Narrow insertion is applied by basting both edges on the material, which is then cut through the center under the lace. The edges are then turned back, rolled and whipped to the edges.

If you do not have time for the handwork, it can be machine stitched, and to do this, baste the lace in place, cut through the wrong side, and then stitch along the edge of the lace on the right side.

A fine thread should be used and the machine stitch should also be fine, so that the stitching will show as little as possible.

Embroidered Bands

Mrs. B. B.—Bands of eyelet and solid work always form an attractive trimming for muslin dresses. Bands decorated with separate motifs, placed at regular intervals, may be further elaborated by couching fine cord in vertical lines, between the motifs. This gives the effect of fine ticking and adds to the beauty of the work.

For loosely woven material, outlining and punch are quickly done and prove most effective for band trimming.

Cross-stitched bands form a very nice trimming for children's clothes.

Note of Appreciation

Mrs. E. C.—Was very glad indeed that the information was just what you wished and thank you for your kind note of appreciation.

A HANDY TRAVELING POCKET

THIS sketch is a new traveling case for use on a sleeper. It is best made of a heavy dark colored denim bound with tape of the same shade. The one from which this design was copied was of an army blue denim bound with blue mohair skirt braid, the pockets intended for articles which might become damp were lined with a thin rubber sheeting. Dark blue bone buttons fastened the pocket flaps. The rather unusual shape of this case will be found extremely convenient. It is intended to use the tying up tapes as apron strings, to fasten the whole thing in front of one when using the general dressing room. It not only prevents splashing one's clothes from the usually sloppy washstand but the writer's experience has been that when more than two women spread out their individual toilet articles not only are small things appropriated but there is actually no room to put down one's toothbrush, while the hands are washed. In this bag everything can easily be slipped into place as soon as used. The pocket across the bottom of the case is intended to be left empty and open to drop the toilet articles in in case of a hurry when there is insufficient time in the dressing room to put each thing carefully away. Pockets 1, 2 and 4, may be unlined, being intended respectively for hair pins, brush and comb, and tooth powder or paste. No. 3 is for toothbrush and 5 for nailbrush and soap. The round design is intended for pincushion. There is room to add a couple of small pockets for individual use. Such as for face cream or powder, manicuring articles, etc. The original size of this case was 22 inches across the top, 10 inches across the extreme bottom and 16 inches deep through the center. The open pocket is 5 inches deep. This case is planned to fold into the least possible space.

CAMP LIFE.
II—THE BOY SCOUT CAMPERS
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

been found to be great carriers for a number of kinds of infectious diseases.

Bridge Building an Accomplishment.

One of the accomplishments included in scout woodcraft is bridge building. The scouts in their hikes frequently cut down trees and build bridges over unfordable streams, which gives many who come after them reason for gratitude. In a number of states the scouts have enlisted in the good road movement, giving substantial aid. They are cooperating in several New Jersey towns with the Congress of Mothers, which raises money to supply the implements and materials which the scouts use in a practical manner for the good of the highways of the vicinity. The value that the scouts might render to the city prosperity of the city has been recognized by the common council of Bingham, N. Y., which has voted to award a medal to the scout who will qualify in certain lines of civic knowledge. They must be able to read the city map, give the names of the streets, the location of the fire boxes, and of the fire companies, the location of the public buildings and factories and other important business places, give the names of railroad and steamship lines touching the city, have a general knowledge of the city government, its sewage and garbage systems and some other matters.

One of the features which commends itself in the Boy Scout organization is that while its methods are military in their directness and discipline, the organization itself tends towards peace. The use of firearms is absolutely prohibited. In their camp life, the scouts learn marksmanship by using bows and arrows which they may purchase from headquarters or make for themselves in true Indian fashion. No scout is permitted to carry any kind of a firearm. This rule is being absolutely adhered to in regard to the American Boy Scouts of Los Angeles, who applied through their secretary for admission to the Boy Scouts of America. They numbered over 1,300 and most of them were ready to qualify as first-class scouts, but they have been accustomed to carry firearms. Their application is held up before the executive board of the Boy Scouts of America, who will only admit them upon the condition that they give up their firearms and military training.

beck, and granddaughter, Miss Gladys Overbeck, of Stratton park. Later, Mrs. Baker will return to her home in Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. C. A. Eldredge, president of the Pikes Peak chapter of the American Woman's league, will give a reception this evening at 8 o'clock at her residence, 18 East Williamette avenue, in welcome to Miss L. Maude Nethers, secretary of the league. Miss Nethers represented the chapter during the national convention at University City, St. Louis, and will give an interesting report of the proceedings. All members are invited to attend.
